Presents: Ontario Business Registry (OBR) and Ontario Not-for-Profit Corporations Act (ONCA)

The Ontario government announced that the Ontario Business Registry (OBR) will be launched on October 19, 2021 and The Ontario Not-for-Profit Corporations Act (ONCA) will also be proclaimed into force on the same day. The ONCA received Royal Assent on October 25, 2010 but cannot be brought into force until the OBR launches. These two new legislative resources will provide the framework for Ontario's not-for-profit corporations. Not-for-profit corporations effected by the ONCA have a three-year window to ensure they are compliant with the new rules.

This workshop will:

- Discuss the advantages and disadvantages of the new legislation.
- Review the changes impacted by the legislation requiring not-for-profit corporations to take action, and
- The effect of the Ontario Business Registry on the not-for-profit industry.

Speaker Bio:

Keith is a lawyer with over thirty years' experience. He has experience in legal risk management and in estates and trusts. He holds the Trust and Estate Practitioner designation. He joined CI in 2015, after being an executive with one of Canada's major banks where he worked in the estate and legal risk fields. Prior to joining the bank, Keith was in the private practice of law working in the litigation and estate planning areas of the firm.

In addition, Keith has been an instructor in legal risk management at both University undergraduate and graduate programs for over thirty years. Keith is a frequent speaker at industry events and has spoken to the Canadian Gift Planners Association, Advocis and STEP Canada.
